

BAMBERTON CEMENT PLANT....

In 1912, Associated Cement Company started a cement plant known as Bamberton in competition with the Tod Inlet plant. In 1916 they amalgamated and became BC Cement company under the directorship of Mr. Butchart.

SCENERY & SEALIFE

Seals, sealions, herons, eagles, otters, and many other wildlife may be viewed in their natural habitat on the waters of Brentwood Bay & Tod Inlet.

THEN & NOW

The Butchart Gardens

NATIONAL HISTORIC SITE OF CANADA

• OVER 100 YEARS IN BLOOM •

HISTORIC BOAT TOURS

A 45 minute natural adventure, exploring the history & wildlife of Tod Inlet and the local waters of Brentwood Bay.

Victoria BC Canada

250.652.5256 (General info)

866.652.4422 (Toll free)

www.butchartgardens.com

Contains 25% of postconsumer fiber

BUTCHART COVE

Nooya - 1912

Iloilo
circa 1909

Calcite - 1908

The Family Launch

Swimming in Butchart Cove
circa - 1908

CEMENT PRODUCTION

Mr. Butchart's Cement plant in Tod Inlet

Manpower moving railcars on the Tod Inlet wharf.

GILBERT'S BOATHOUSE

Local residents, Mary & Harry Gilbert and dog Kal, harpooned a 16' basking shark from an inboard skiff in Tod Inlet in 1953.

The Malahat & Bamberton as the backdrop of Brentwood
Bay. Photo taken from Saunders Lane at bottom of Norman Lane - mid 1930's.

A DAY'S CATCH

A day's catch at Renouf's boat house, Moodyville, April 1924.

